

"Sun, Sea, Sand and Sandwiches" by Ray and Anne

"the run with the most toilet stops ever!"

Twelve fives met up near Camborne prepared for all weathers as it was looking a bit gloomy. The sun shines on the righteous and MX5s as the weather soon cheered up and we could be topless!

Word of the run had spread and by the time we reached Praze a welcome committee of Jenny and Gerald's family were there to wave as the convoy passed. The picnic was at Porth Nanven near St Just but to get there we took in splendid views across the south coast at Porthleven, Newlyn and down the narrow lanes of Mousehole. After lunch we set off again along the beautiful north coast, squeezing through a very busy St Ives on a Sunday afternoon in summer. Our last stop was at Hells Mouth café near Gwithian where we split to go our separate ways but not before many tucked in to tea and cakes.
