

The White Pyramid Run

On a dry frosty morning twelve Mx5 cars set off from Malpas, with their hoods down and hats on. We drove through Shortlanesend through the main street at Perranporth and caught a glimpse of the sea on the way up the hill and on towards Newquay. We all arrived together at Pentire Point where we stopped to admire the view across Crantock Bay had a cuppa and took some pictures. We headed back along Pentire Road where we saw the surfers at Fistral Beach enjoying the fine day. Heading towards the town, we took the scenic route passing the Atlantic Bay Hotel before driving through the main street of Newquay shopping centre. After a quick comfort stop at Morrisons we all met up again at Quintrell Downs and followed in convoy to the White Pyramid, where everyone enjoyed an excellent Sunday roast and delicious pud. ☺
